K. P. National Gathering.

The National Biennial Gathering of the Knights of Pythias, which is to be held in San Francisco, August 10th to 20th, is probably destined to become memorable as the greatest fraternal gathering in the history of this country, in point of numbers as well as in splendor. The people of San Francisco and of California are determined that it shall eclipse all similar convention ever held in the United State. Never before was there such unanimity of action among all the people of the coast. It is not the members of the order alone who take such lively interest in the coming gathering of the hosts, but merchants, manufacturers, farmers and miners, all are interested to make the affair a glorious one for California and the most pleasant for the visitors. Carloads of choice fruit will be sent each day from different section for free distribution. Congress has authorized the Secretary of War to issue 1,000 small tents for the encampment, and as many more as may be necessary. The railroads have agreed to a very low rate of transportation.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Paul Leicester Ford, the Novelist, Killed By His Brother.

Paul Was the Author of "The Honorable Peter Stirling," "Janice Meredith," "The Great K. and A. Train Robbery," Etc.

New York, May 9.—Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist, was shot and killed Thursday by his brother, Malcolm Webster Ford, writer and athlete, who immediately sent a bullet into his own breast, dying instantly. The shooting occurred in the handsome new mansion which Paul Leicester Ford had built at 37 East 77th street, and had occupied for about a year.

At the time of the shooting there were in the house besides the two brothers, Mrs. Paul Leicester Ford, Miss Elizabeth R. Hall, the novelist's secretary, and the servants. The novelist was sitting at his desk in one corner of his library, a large, attractively appearing room at the back of the house on the second floor. It is supposed he was busily engaged at some literary task. Miss Hall was at her desk in another corner of the room, about 30 feet from Mr. Ford. Mrs. Paul Leicester Ford was in her own room at the front of the house on the third floor.

Malcolm Ford called, as he had often done, and went to his brother at his desk. Words were exchanged in a tone so low that Miss Hall could not hear what was said, though she says that she possibly might have distinguished the words if she had been paying any attention to this particular meeting of the brothers. Suddenly there was a revolver shot and Miss Hall, jumping up, darted from the room. Then, according to the statements of the police, Miss Hall said to herself that she must act more bravely and re-enter the library.

Meanwhile Malcolm Ford had called her. As she turned towards him, he placed his revolver to his heart, fired and fell, dying instantly. When Miss Hall turned to look at Paul, he was still standing at his desk, but rapidly losing strength. She helped him to a sofa and then ran next door for Mr. Paul Ford's physician. In less than five minutes Dr. Baruch arrived, and the dying man, still conscious, was carried up to a room beside his wife's and placed on his bed.

Police Capt. Brown said Thursday night that Malcolm Ford had for some time been causing much uneasiness to the family through evidences of an unbalanced mind, and declares that in his opinion he attacked his brother during a period of temporary insanity, then taking his own life.

"The cause of Malcolm Ford's action," said Capt. Brown, "can be explained by inference. For some time his financial affairs have been pressing him and he has repeatedly asked and received material assistance from his brother. It is presumed that his importuning had been such and his demand so excessive that his brother had been forced to refuse further aid."

Paul Leicester Ford was 37 years old, a novelist of much note, "Janice Meredith" being his most popular novel. He was married about a year ago to Miss Grace Kidder, daughter of Edward H. Kidder, of Brooklyn. He was the son of Gordon Lester Ford, of Brooklyn, who died 11 years ago, and left an estate of some $2,000,000, divided between his children, with the exception of Malcolm W., who was disinherited by the will.

Mr. Ford is the author of "The Hon. Peter Stirling," "The Great K. and A. Train Robbery," "The True George Washington," "The Many Sided Franklin," (which ran serially in the Century), "Tattle Tales of Cupid," "Janice Meredith," which ran serially in the Bookman, 1899, and a collection of short stories. He also edited the writings of Thomas Jefferson in ten volumes, the writings of John Dickinson in three volumes, and numerous other works relating to American history and bibliography.

THE STRIKE ORDERED.

Anthracite Miners Will Cease Work Monday Morning.

Scranton, Pa., May 10.—A general strike of the miners of the anthracite region has been ordered for Monday next, but the order has a reserve qualification attached. The question as to whether the strike is to be made permanent is left to the decision of a convention of delegates of all the local organizations of the mine workers to be held at Hazleton next Wednesday.

The miners' executive committee of three districts met and had a three-hour session.

The instruction for all men to suspend work on Monday does not include firemen, engineers, pumpmen and other labor necessary to preserve the properties of the operators.

The order is signed by all the district presidents and secretaries. There was a big crowd about the St. Charles when the order was given out, and the proverbial dropping of a pin could have been audible at any time. President Mitchell, standing in the center of the crowd on a chair, read the statement.

Immediately upon the conclusion of President Mitchell's reading the crowd scattered, and in an incredibly short space of time the news had spread by word of mouth and message all through the valley. A thousand varying comments might be heard from the miners as they learned of the committee's action. No one sentence could cover the general sentiment.

There is not a particle of question but that the miners will obey the order and on Monday next not so much as a shovelful of coal will be mined in the Lackawanna valley.

STATE ANTI-TRUST LAWS.

Ouster Proceedings Filed Against Several Packing Companies.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 10.—Attorney General Crow filed in the supreme court ouster proceedings against the Armour Packing Co., the Hammond Packing Co., the Cudahy Packing Co., Armour & Co., and the Krug Packing Co. for alleged violation of the state anti-trust laws. The companies are charged with combining to fix and maintain prices and to control the supply of dressed, cured and smoked meats and lard in Missouri. An alternative writ was issued, returnable May 30. The information alleges that Nelson-Morris & Co., of Kansas City, and Schwartzchild & Sulzburger, of Kansas City, are in the combination, but as they are co-partnerships it will require another kind of proceeding to reach them. This will be filed immediately by the attorney general.

OLYMPIAN GAMES.

Nicaragua Will Be Well Represented in the Contests.

Chicago, May 10.—The International Olympian Games Association has received official notice that the government of Nicaragua has taken official recognition of the games to be held in Chicago in 1904, and will send representatives to be present at the contests. The notification was addressed by Louis F. Corea, the minister of Nicaragua at Washington, to Volney W. Foster, commissioner general of the association to the Latin country.

This action is in harmony with the resolution adopted by the Pan-American congress at its recent session in Mexico urging upon the governments therein represented to support the coming games. The other governments of Central and South America, it is expected, will probably not be slow in following the example of Nicaragua.

WIGGINS.

Two-year-old Race Record of 2:19 1-2 Could trot at 2 years old in 2:13.

SIRE OF RENA WISE (3) 2:21 3-4.

Brown horse, 15.3, foaled in 1893.

By ABERDEEN, sire of Ky. Union 2:07 1-4, Dentine 2:13 1-4, Bessie Owens 2:13 1-4 and 50 others in 2:30.

1st dam, Albina de Mer (dam of Wiggins (2) 2:19 1-2 and Mabel Money-penny (2) 2:20 (second in 2:12 1-4) her only colts trained), by Stamboul 1:07 1-2.

2d dam, Belle Blanche, by The Moor, sire of Beautiful Bells, dam of 10 trotters in 2:30 list.

3d dam, Bell View Maid (dam of Centre 2:29 1-2), by Idol 177.

4th dam by Pilot, Jr., sire of dams of Mand S. 2:08 3-4, Jay-Eye-See 2:06 1-4, etc.

WIGGINS is a very handsome horse, with the best feet and legs I ever saw. He was a very high-class race horse. He won five straight races at 2 years old without losing a heat, defeating all the cracks of the year 1895. He trotted the last end of a mile, over a slow track, in 1:5 1-2, and could have gone faster. While it is saying a great deal, I assert that he is siring as much and as uniform speed as any stallion in Kentucky standing at any price. He had only four colts as old as 3 years last season. Bessie Brown (was second at 2 years in 2:30 1-3) trotted a 3/4 track in 2:15. Edna Earl, same track, in 2:25 1-2, half in 1:08. Rena Wise took a 3-year-old record of 2:21 3/4, and Black Arthur trotted in 2:26 to cart. Wigwag, a 2-year-old, trotted a 3/4 track in 2:28 1/2 on 15th of June, and was sold for $3,500. A yearling filly scarcely bridle-wise, trotted a mile to cart in 2:37 1/2. They all trot.

MAMBRINO PATCHEN 58.

Patchen Wilton.

(4-year-old trial 2:21 1-2.)

By WILTON 2:10½, sire of 103 with records from 2:06 to 2:30. The Wiltons are not only trotters and racehorses, but the greatest road horses in the world.

1st dam, Emma Patchen, dam of George W. 2:24½, Lena Wilkes, record 2:20½, trial 2:22½, and Patchen Wilton, trial 2:21½, by Mambrino Patchen 58.

As a producer of champions, Patchen Wilton is without an equal. He sired the dams of Alcione, Alcantara, Baron Wilkes, Guy Wilkes, Wilkes Boy, Simmons, Ralph Wilkes 2:09½, and over 150 with records in 2:30 and better. Mambrino Patchen's sons sired the dams of Crescens, the world's champion trotter, and The Abbot, the champion trotting gelding.

2d dam, Emma, record 2:35, made in 1885, to high wheel sulky weighing 90 lbs., dam of Jerry 2:27½.

PATCHEN WILTON is a coal black horse, and for beauty, grace and action he is without a peer in Kentucky. With the rise of horse shows and road driving nowadays, the horse with plenty of good looks, action, soundness and speed, is the one that brings the fancy price. All of these virtues are combined in PATCHEN WILTON, and this is backed by the most fashionable breeding in the books. His sire is one of the greatest sons of George Wilkes, his dam a great producing daughter of Mambrino Patchen, his second dam a great producing daughter of Mambrino Patchen, his second dam a great race mare in her day and a producer.

SAMPSON'S FUNERAL.

Body Laid to Rest in Arlington Cemetery, Washington.

A Long Procession Followed the Body From the Church of the Covenant to the Cemetery—An Artillery Salute.

Washington, May 10.—Services were held Friday in the Church of the Covenant over the remains of Rr. Adm. Sampson, who passed away in Washington Tuesday, May 6.

A prominent figure in the pew directly in the rear of the diplomatic body was Lieut. Gen. Miles; also Gen. Longstreet. The funeral service was simple, but exceedingly impressive. There was no sign of mourning about the church, but two score of magnificent floral emblems made up of rarest roses, lilies and orchids, laced with purple ribbon, the gifts of the president, the Loyal Legion, ordnance bureau, navy yard workers and the many social and personal friends of the dead admiral. The president arrived at the church almost simultaneously with the head of the funeral escort. The casket was covered with the blue field of the American flag and banked with crimson roses. Mrs. Sampson was too ill to attend the services.

The funeral services were little more than the funeral ritual of the Presbyterian church. As the benediction was pronounced the body bearers took up their burden and, followed by the family of the deceased, the president of the United States and his cabinet, the diplomatic body and many notable personages, the remains were carried out of the church and placed in the hearse. A bugle note gave the signal for the march, and soon the entire long funeral procession was on its way to Arlington.

The procession to Arlington lay through the western section of the city and historic Georgetown, whence, after crossing the aqueduct bridge, it went by way of Fort Myer to the cemetery. The weather was exceptionally fine and crowds of people, approximating between 40,000 and 45,000, thronged the streets and country roads and gathered about the grounds at Arlington. They were respectful and reverential in their demeanor and appeared to have been animated by one common impulse, to gather to pay a last honor to the distinguished dead, rather than by idle curiosity.

At the grave the burial services were simple, being confined to a prayer for the dead, the reading of a psalm and music. At their conclusion the saluting battery of the 4th artillery, stationed outside the gates, boomed out three salvos. This salute was in lieu of the usual volley of musketry. As the body was lowered into the grave, the marine band played the beautiful hymn: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and then followed the sounding of "taps" by a bugler stationed at the head of the open grave. The president and cabinet did not go to Arlington.

INTERRED IN THE CRYPT.

The Corrigan Funeral Ceremonies Impressive and Solemn.

New York, May 10.—The body of Most Rev. Michael Augustine Corrigan, D. D., archbishop of New York, was interred in the crypt of St. Patrick's cathedral. The funeral was conducted with all the impressive solemnity and ceremony of his church, attended by a remarkable gathering of clergy. Eight archbishops, 18 bishops and more than 1,000 priests were present. Inside the gothic altar six candles were burning and the smoke of incense hung about it. Around the bier where the dead archbishop lay, three burned on each side of him, with a double row in a candelabra above his head, and another double row below his feet. Black cloth was hung about the fluted pillars, on the vacant archiepiscopal throne there was purple and black.

The chimes played, and then the bells tolled from the spires; after that the thousands, priests, bishops and archbishops and Cardinal Gibbons led in, following a boy with a cross, and candelabers. There were bearded Franciscans, in coarse brown cowls with white rope girdles; shaven priests in white lace surplices; Jesuits in dull black; Dominicans in black and white cowls; more priests in laces; bishops in purple, and after an interval, the spare, bent figure of the cardinal, in red, and two deacons, in black and gold, a half pace behind him on either side.

In the rear were national guards of men in uniforms; and up the south aisle came various officers of the city government, two by two, in black frock coats, bows of crepe on their sleeves. Within the altar rail, priests and bishops and archbishops were ranged in proper precedence, and the cardinal ascended his throne, and the attending deacons placed over his red the white vestments of the mass, and on his head the white miter, and the mass began.

Peculiar to Itself.

This applies to St. Jacobs Oil used for fifty years. It contains ingredients that are unknown to any one but the manufacturers and their trusted employees. Its pain killing properties are marvellous, as testified to by the thousands of once crippled human beings now made well and free from pain by its use. St. Jacobs Oil has a record of cures greater than all other medicines. Its sales are larger than those of any other proprietary medicine and ten times greater than all other embrocations, oils and liniments combined, simply because it has been proved to be the best.

Weak and Sickly Children

Who, perhaps, have inherited a weak digestion, continually subject to stomach troubles, loss of flesh and general weakness, can be made healthy and strong by the use of Vogeler's Curative Compound. Every doctor who is at all up to date will say that Vogeler's Curative Compound will make the blood pure and rich, bring colour to the cheeks, and put on flesh where health demands it. Children who have been weak and sickly since birth should be treated with small doses of Vogeler's Curative Compound, from two to five drops, twice daily, most satisfactory results will follow. It is the best of all medicines, because it is made from the formula of a great living physician.

Boston Is Unique.

A Chicagoan had been taken around Boston all day to observe her bulwarks, but had failed to observe any of those symptoms of paralysis which are acceptable to the Bostonian mind. "Now, confess," said the Bostonian host, after the burden and heat of the day, "isn't Boston a unique town?" "Unique," mused the westerner, "I believe that word is derived from two Latin words, unus, one, and equus, horse. I think Boston is a unique town."—Chicago Chronicle.

Personally Conducted Trip to Niagara Falls at Very Low Rates.

The C. H. & D. Ry. will run their annual Niagara Falls Excursion this year on August 2nd. These excursions are always well patronized and very high class, carrying through sleeping cars. These trains are run special, in charge of an excursion manager, whose sole duty is to look after the comfort of the passengers, arrange hotel accommodations and see that they are afforded every opportunity to view the various points of interest without being subjected to any extortionate charges. By selecting a day so far in advance, they are enabled to give the best of accommodations without the services of an experienced guide for not more than one-third of the usual rates. These trips are recommended for ladies and children, who can depend upon every care and protection, even more than they would get from their own male relatives while with the excursion party. It offers all the advantage of a co-operative outing. Small parties or clubs of fifteen or more can, by notifying us in advance, be located in one car, and have their rooms adjoining, securing almost complete privacy, if desired.

Interested parties can obtain further information regarding side trips to other resorts, rates, sleeping car accommodations, etc., by writing to or calling on J. K. Bellows, agent C. H. & D. THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

Mrs. Eckis Stevenson of Salt Lake City Tells How Operations For Ovarian Troubles May Be Avoided.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with inflammation of the ovaries and womb for over six years, enduring aches and pains which none can dream of but those who have had the same experience. Hundreds of dollars went to the doctor and the druggist. I was simply a walking medicine chest and a physical wreck. My sister residing in Ohio wrote me that she had been cured of womb trouble by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advised me to try it. I then discontinued all other medicines and gave your Vegetable Compound a thorough trial. Within four weeks nearly all pain had left me; I rarely had headaches, and my nerves were in a much better condition, and I was cured in three months, and this avoided a terrible surgical operation."—Mrs. ECKIS STEVENSON, 250 So. CUBA becomes her own mistress May 23th.

The "mashers" have become so obstreperous at Bowling Green as to necessitate an extra police to guard the church doors after services.

MR. BRYAN says there will be no difficulty about achieving harmony if the harmonizing is based on Democratic principles.

The workingman who voted two years ago for a "full dinner pail" will hardly be able to put much beef in it at the present high price.

AN Illinois man who has never used tobacco or intoxicating liquors, and has been a Bible student all his life, is well preserved at 102. The good do not always die young, as this case attests.

Word comes from the Great Lake fisheries that never before were fish more abundant than this season, the big catches fairly straining the nets. Thus is there some compensation for the high price of meats.

The Twentieth Century edition of the Semi-Weekly Progress, published at Elkton, Ky., is on our exchange table. It is a handsome forty-page periodical and is a masterful piece of work typographically and otherwise.

SCIENTISTS say that there is 60 per cent. more nutriment in rice than in beef steak, and one pound of rice will go as far as five pounds of steak. Under such a state of case, what's the use in patronizing the meat trust?

A CHICAGO exchange remarks: "Now comes the wide-eyed Inter Ocean and propounds this conundrum: 'Is Republicanism a crime?' Giving the accused the benefit of the doubt, we should say that in Illinois it is simply a case of disorderly conduct."

It is reported that a South Carolina negro delivers excellent discourses while asleep, and his preaching is remarkably good. Sleeping preachers are somewhat of a novelty, but sleeping congregations are so numerous as to attract no attention.

For several years officers of the twenty-odd Lexington Investment Companies have been engaged in a mad-cap financial dance, and now that a grand jury has summoned half-hundred of them to step up to the captain's office and pay for the fiddling, that morning after, tired feeling is epidemic in the Bluegrass capital.—Times.

The Cynthiana Democrat, says: The "he" shirt waist has a companion this spring in the "she" neckcloth that winds around the jugular and falls in long, broad flaps over the manly bosom. A "he" shirt waist and a "she" neckcloth on a dandy in jeans trousers and muddy shoes is a combination just too cute for anything. You can meet it in Cynthiana.

GOV. DAVIS, of Arkansas, has pardoned a negro convicted for assault with intent to kill. The pardon is on condition the negro take up his residence in Massachusetts. The Governor says he is moved to this action by the expressions of sympathy for the "poor oppressed negro" which he heard in the North on a recent visit. Won't Gov. Beckham pardon some of the colored prisoners in the Kentucky pen, on the same conditions?

NEVER in recent years has public indignation been so aroused as it now has against the men who, through the failures of securities companies, are alleged to have robbed the citizens of Lexington and Fayette county of nearly $1,000,000. Expressions that bode no good to the alleged offenders are frequently heard, and the indications are they will soon begin their exodus. Thirty-seven indictments for embezzlement against the former officers and manipulators of the defunct investment companies have been returned by the grand jury. The cases will come up in June, and if the opinions of those strictly on the inside are to be credited there will follow convictions enough to satisfy the indignation of the people who have been robbed of their money.

THE Louisville Times, says: We gave great chunks of sympathy to the soldier boys who had to eat embalmed beef during the war with Spain, and the revelations in the Beef Trust inquiry in Missouri furnish opportunity for us to sympathize with ourselves. One witness makes the shocking statement that "It (the meat) is in a decayed condition, has whiskers on it as we call it, and they are rubbed off. They then put a kind of paint on it and send it out in their own wagons and sell it to restaurants, hotels and even to private families." With packers feeding us his ruse meat, dairymen selling us chemically-treated milk and artificially-colored oleomargarine, millers adulterating flour with white clay, and practically every "pure food product" full of deleterious, if not poisonous substances, it requires ingrate faith to say grace before partaking.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

SERIOUSLY CUT.—George T. Stevens, formerly of Ruddles Mills, in this county, was slashed in the face six times with a Barlow knife in front of Hines' saloon, in Lexington, Saturday night, by James McKenna, an elderly man. IT IS DIFFICULT.—It is indeed difficult to convince some people that they don't have to light up the kitchen range when they want to cook something very particular. Several million people still cling to the idea that a gas stove will only cook a few simple things. We want to say again, in the most emphatic manner, that a Gas Range will do more things to advantage, at one time, than your coal range will do, and do them better, to say nothing of time and money saved.

The May Festival.

The Elks' May Music Festival, given at the Grand Opera House, in this city, on Friday evening last, was a great success, both financially and artistically. The audience was a representative one and each number on the program was loudly applauded and it was pronounced as being one of the very best musical entertainments ever given in this city.

There is no city in the State, or anywhere for that matter, that possesses more genuine musical talent, for the size of the town, than Paris, and in the performance on Friday night, the pick and cream of our singers were in evidence. The chorus was an unusually strong one, comprising fifty-three voices and the selections of music rendered was of the highest order and most classic.

We refrain from making an individual mention of any special number, as one word will suffice in comment, and that is to say that it was "great."

However, we will say that the performance was given under the direction of Dr. Frank Fithian, who labored unceasingly to make it the success that it was.

There is an urgent request that the performance be repeated, in which event, we can advise those who were unable to be present on Friday night, not to miss it, as they will probably never have another opportunity to witness such a performance again in our city.

Court House Architects.

The Committee of the Fiscal Court were busy all of yesterday looking over the plans that were being submitted by different architects for our new Court House building. Some of the plans, in fact all of them were very fine, and if the committee decide to accept any one of the many submitted, we will certainly have a fine building. There is a probability that the committee may decide on one of them to-day. The parties submitting plans were: L. L. Oberwarth, Frankfort, Ky.; Henry Walters, Louisville, Ky.; Mason Manry, Louisville, Ky.; Ditoe & Wisarall, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. W. Gaddis, Vincennes, Ind.; H. L. Rowe, Lexington, Ky.; W. Charnick & Co., Birmingham, Ala.; W. S. Van Dusen, Louisville, Ky.; S. E. Hannaford & Sons, Cincinnati, O.; F. Norman, Atlanta, Ga.; F. P. Milburn, Columbia, S. BOB TAYLOR.—Gov. Bob Taylor, in his new lecture, "The Old Plantation," is meeting with great success. Why not the Daughters of the Confederacy secure him for a benefit? Enough tickets could be sold in advance to insure success.

CUPID'S ARROW.

Cupid was busy on Saturday morning last. It was one of those bright and balmy Spring days, a morning of poetry, so to speak. At the noon hour at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lizzie Walker, Miss Francis K. Pullen was betrothed to Mr. Arthur W. Chapman, both of Chicago, the ceremony being performed by Elder J. S. Sweeney. The home of Mrs. Walker was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants and the happy pair, after the marriage ceremony, received the congratulations of their friends and invited guests who had assembled to wish them bon voyage on the sea of matrimony. After partaking of a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Chapman left on the afternoon train for their home in Chicago.

Will Mark, of Mt. Sterling, and Miss Eva Gifford, of North Middletown, eloped to Cincinnati and were married.

DEATHS.

Miss Daisy Smith aged 15, died on Saturday morning of consumption. The remains were interred in the Paris cemetery on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the service being conducted at the grave by Elder Lloyd Darsie.

Miss Maggie Rion died on Saturday at her home on High street. The funeral services were held from the residence at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Eld. J. S. Sweeney. Burial in the local cemetery.

Capt. Joseph Desha, a well-known Confederate soldier of the Kentucky Orphan Brigade, died of pneumonia, at his home in Cynthiana, on Thursday night. Capt. Ed. F. Spears, Dr. Chas. J. Clarke and W. H. Whaley attended the funeral on Saturday. Capt. Desha was a half brother of Mrs. Annie D. Lucas, of this city. He had returned a few days before from Dallas, Texas, where he had been attending the Confederate re-union.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Of Southern Methodist ministers 458 were educated at Vanderbilt.

The Y. M. C. A. at Lexington has $30,000 pledged for a new building.

Cumberland Presbyterian churches are planned for Danville, Lexington and Mt. Sterling.

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Moore will preach the baccalaureate sermon at Millersburg Female College, May 25.

The Rev. George O. Barnes, formerly a Kentucky evangelist, will be ordained an elder in Dowie's church. Mr. Barnes is seventy-five years of age.

Elder J. W. Harding, of Winchester, was 79 years old last Tuesday. He has married more couples, held more meetings, preached more sermons, received and baptised more persons into the church, and performed the last sad rites at the grave of a greater number of persons than any other minister in Central Kentucky.

A Second Pompeii at St. Pierre, Island of Martinique.

Not More Than 20 Escaped With Their Lives—Eighteen Vessels Were Burned and Sunk With All on Board.

San Juan, P. R., May 8.—The cable officials here have received advices from the island of Martinique that over 40,000 people are supposed to have perished during the volcanic disturbance in Martinique. The cable repair steamer Grappler, belonging to the West India and Panama Telegraph Co., of London, was lost with all hands during the eruption of Mount Pelee at St. Pierre, Martinique. The Grappler was one of the first ships to disappear.

Washington, May 10.—The following cablegram, has been received at the state department: "Pointe a Pitre, May 9, 1902.—Secretary of State, Washington: At 7 o'clock a. m. on the 8th instant a storm of steam, mud and fire enveloped the city and community. Not more than 20 persons escaped with their lives. Eighteen vessels were burned and sunk with all on board, including four American vessels and a steamer from Quebec named Roraima. The United States consul and family are reported among the victims. A war vessel has come to Guadeloupe for provisions and will leave at 5 to-morrow. (Signed) Ayme, Consul."

Paris, May 10.—The Colonial minister, M. DeCraus, received at 6 o'clock Friday evening two cable messages from the secretary general of the government of Martinique J. E. G. L. Hurre, sent respectively at 5 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. Thursday. The earlier cable reported that the wires were broken between Port De France and St. Pierre, but it was added in view of reports that the eruption of Mont Pelee had wiped out the town of St. Pierre. All the boats available at Port De France were dispatched to the assistance of the inhabitants of that place.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., May 12.—Advices received here from the island of Martinique Sunday say that boats arriving there report that many persons were drowned while crossing to Martinique from the island of Martinique, where some of the out parishes have been inundated. The eruption of Mont Pelee (Martinique) continues. The lava is progressing northward. The whole northern region is now a rocky waste, denuded of vegetation.

Reports from the inland of St. Vincent say that up to the afternoon of Friday last over 200 deaths had occurred there owing to the volcanic outbreak in that island. Definite news, however, is lacking. Many estates were destroyed and steam and ashes were belched forth from 7 in the morning until 9:30 o'clock at night. The eruption is now invisible at Kingston. Huge dust clouds were blown eastward. Great distress prevails at St. Vincent, where there are many injured persons. It is believed that about 400 persons have lost their lives at St. Vincent. The majority of the corpses are still unburied.

The British mail steamer Solent has gone from Barbadoes to Martinique with supplies and doctors. From the island of Trinidad, the British Royal mail steamer Kennel has gone to Port De France. The British second-class cruiser Indefatigable is on her way from Trinidad to St. Vincent with stores and relief for the sufferers there. It is reported that Port De France (Martinique) is threatened. Great tension prevails everywhere throughout the West Indies.

Port De France, Island of Martinique, May 12.—Advices received here Sunday from the vicinity of St. Pierre (ten miles from here), contain further details of the terrible volcanic upheaval which resulted in the utter destruction of that town and the death of nearly all its inhabitants.

The crater of Mont Pelee has been wearing its "smoke cap" since May 3; but there was nothing until last Monday to indicate that there was the slightest danger. On that day a stream of boiling lava burst through the top of the crater and plunged into the valley of the river Blanche, overwhelming the Guerin sugar works and killing 23 work people and the son of the proprietor.

A commission was appointed by the governor to investigate the outbreak and it returned a reassuring report on Wednesday evening. But about 8 o'clock on Thursday morning a shower of fire rushed down on St. Pierre, and the coast from Le Carbet, which had a population of 6,000, to Le Precheur, which had a population of 4,000, burning up everything in its path. Throughout Thursday the heat in the vicinity of St. Pierre was so intense and the stream of flowing lava was so unrelenting that it was impossible to approach the town during the early part of the day. As evening approached the French cruiser Suchet, after a heroic battle with the heat, suffocation and sulphur fumes, succeeded in making a dash toward the shore, nearing the land close enough to enable her to take off 30 survivors of the disaster, all of whom were horribly burned and mutilated.

St. Pierre at that time was an absolute smoking waste, concealing 30,000 corpses, whose rapid decomposition necessitated, in some cases, instantly completing their cremation, which was only partially accomplished by the lava.

The inhabitants of Port De France were panic-stricken the morning of the disaster when the sky suddenly blackened until it was as dark as midnight. The sea shrank back 30 yards and hot rain began to fall, while gravel the size of walnuts poured down on the town. This lasted about 15 minutes. The 450 survivors who were brought here Saturday from the vicinity of St. Pierre by the French cable repair ship Bouyer Guertier came from the town of Le Precheur where, surrounded on all sides by flowing lava, they were nearly roasted to death and expected momentarily to be engulfed.

The work of relief is progressing here on the most extensive scale possible, but, in anticipation of disturbances, the treasury building and the warehouses are guarded by troops.

The latest reports received here showed that lava continues to pour down the slopes of the mountain, slowly engulfing the whole north side of the island, while fresh crevasses are continually opening.

Paris, May 12.—A dispatch received at the colonial office here Sunday from Port De France says there is no doubt that Gov. Mouttet and the commander of the troops at St. Pierre, Col. Jain, are dead. Other dispatches confirm the reports that the American and British consuls and their families perished.

ANOTHER DISASTER.

An Eruption Causes Heavy Loss of Life on St. Vincent.

Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, B. W. I., Saturday, May 10.—After numerous earthquakes, during the preceding fortnight, accompanied by subterranean noises in the direction of the Soufriere volcano on the north-west part of the island, a loud explosion from the crater occurred Monday last, and the water in the crater lake ascended in a stupendous cloud of steam and exploded heavily.

The noises grew louder continually until Wednesday morning, when the old crater, three miles in circumference, and the new crater, formed by the last eruption, belched smoke and stones, forcing the residents of Wallibou and Richmond valley, beneath the volcano, to flee to Chateau Belair for refuge.

The thunderous noises which were continually increasing were heard in neighboring islands 200 miles away.

At midday the craters ejected enormous columns of steamy vapor, rising majestically eight miles high and expanding into wonderful shapes, resembling enormous cauliflower, gigantic wheels and beautiful flower forms, all streaked up and down and crosswise, with vivid flashes of lightning, awing the beholder and impressing the mind with fear. The mountain labored to rid itself of a mass of molten lava, which later flowed over in six streams, down the side of the volcano, and the greater noises following united in one continuous roar all evening, through the night to Thursday morning, accompanied with black rain, falling dust and favailla scoria, attended with midnight darkness all Wednesday, creating feelings of fear and anxious suspense.

On the morning of Friday there was a fresh eruption and ejections of fiery matter, more dust covering the island, in some places two feet deep. The crater is still active as this dispatch is sent, and great loss of life is believed to have occurred.

The lava has destroyed several districts, with their live stock. People are fleeing to this town, streams are dried up and in many places a food and water famine is threatened. The government is feeding numbers of sufferers from the outbreak. Great physical changes have taken place in the neighborhood of the Soufriere.

Several districts have not yet been heard from, and the scene of the eruption is unapproachable. Every hour brings sadder news. The nurses and doctors are overworked.

Among the deaths are whole families whose corpses are, in several places, still lying unburied. The dead will be interred in trenches.

EARTHQUAKES AT UNALASKA.

San Francisco, May 12.—The Alaska Commercial Co. has received from its agent at Unalaska, Aleutian islands, a letter dated April 10, giving information of volcanic disturbances in that portion.

The letter says: Unalaska has been shaken up by earthquakes lately and on several occasions the ground was covered with fine ashes from some volcano. Reports reach us from Unimak to the effect that with every westerly wind their village is covered with some kind of ashes, indicating that some western volcano is in action.

CUBAN FLAG HOISTED.

President-Elect Palma Arrives in Havana.

He Was Enthusiastically Received By the Populace—Will Be the Guest of Gen. Gomez Until Inauguration Day.

Havana, May 12.—Sunday morning a large Cuban flag was hoisted over Moro Castle here.

This was the signal that the steamer Julia, with President-elect Estrada Palma and his party on board, had been sighted, and cheers went up from the thousands who on the shore opposite Moro Castle had patiently awaited the Julia's arrival since daybreak. The crowd cheered for the new president and for the flag, which was hoisted over the famous fortress for the first time. It was a moment of exultation for the Cubans, and the fact that the stars and stripes floated from its customary flagstaff beside the Cuban flag over the castle did not lessen their enthusiasm.

As the flag rose the bands stationed along the water front played the Cuban national hymn, steamers saluted and church bells were rung.

There was continuous saluting as the Julia sailed between the rows of decorated tugs and barges and there were cheers from the crowded wharves. The several warships in the harbor were also decorated.

When he arrived at the wharf the president-elect was welcomed by Vice President Esteve in a brief speech. A pretty feature of the reception here was 23 young Cuban women dressed in costumes representing the American republics. Senora Durlo, who represented Cuba, delivered an address and read a poem.

From the wharf the president-elect was escorted to the palace by members of the rural guard. Gov. Gen. Wood, his staff and the secretaries received Senor Palma at the palace. From here the president-elect proceeded to the municipal council building, where speeches were made by the mayor of Havana and Senor Zayas. The latter welcomed Senor Estrada Palma in behalf of the people of all classes and all political beliefs.

Replying, Senor Estrada Palma said that his reception was a gratifying experience, and, judging from what he had seen since his arrival in Cuba, the people were unanimous in support of the incoming government. This, he said, boded well for the republic.

Gen. Wood accompanied Senor Estrada Palma to the residence of Gen. Maximo Gomez, where the president-elect will reside until his inauguration, May 20.

AIRSHIP EXPLODED.

Senhor Augusto Severo and a Companion Were Killed.

Paris, May 12.—The airship belonging to Senhor Augusto Severo, the Brazilian aeronaut, made an ascension Monday morning. The airship exploded and two aeronauts who were on board were killed.

Senhor Severo's airship, called La Paix, had made two ascensions at the Vaugrassas Aerostatic park since May 4. Upon both occasions La Paix was held by a rope at the height of 40 metres. In this position the airship maneuvered for a short time successfully.

La Paix was not unlike Santos-Dumont's airships in appearance, but it differed from them in many details. The gas capacity of La Paix was nearly four times greater than that of Santos-Dumont's balloon. It had three main propellers and two smaller ones used for steering and in ascending and descending. The two petroleum motors of La Paix were of 24 and 16 horse power respectively.

KILLED A FELLOW WORKMAN.

A Chef Horribly Butchered By a Fireman in a Hotel.

Bridgeport, Ct., May 12.—Lawrence Bressano, a fireman in the Atlantic hotel, crept into the meat room Sunday morning and split the skull of Michael Tornish, the chef, with a meat cleaver. He then took a large butcher knife and slashed the body, cutting off the nose and ears, gouging out the eyes and cutting strip after strip of flesh off the face of the victim. When the upper part of the body was unrecognizable Bressano jumped on it and danced from the head to the feet until the arrival of the police, who were attracted by the frenzied yells of the murderer. Bressano then turned his attention to his would-be capturers, and was not subdued until one policeman broke a club over his head, and another knocked him senseless to the ground with the brass buckle of a belt.

Bressano at police headquarters acknowledged the murder, and said he felt better for having committed it. It is believed that trouble over a woman led him to kill his fellow workman. He will be given a preliminary trial Monday.

RIOT AT A CIRCUS.

Troops Were Called Out to Quell the Disorder.

Beziers, France, May 12.—Barnum & Bailey's circus was the cause of a serious riot here Sunday afternoon. The crowd seeking admission to the performance was greater than the tent could accommodate, and those who were unable to enter began stoning the circus employees, five of whom were injured. One had his skull fractured and will probably die. The crowd numbered about 7,000. Several thousand persons forced their way to the arena. The police were powerless to check them. Troops were called out and restored order, finally driving the rioters away. The performance was concluded, but at its termination the tents were taken down and arrangements were made to start immediately for Carcassonne, the next place on the route.

After the operation he was removed to his home in Watertown and death had been expected for several days.

MAKING THE WEDDING GRAB.

When I was weeping.
In my pain I said:
"I weary of my life—would I were dead,
In silence sleeping.
Where troubles are no more, nor cares, nor tears.
Nor visionary hopes, nor fears
Like dark-night shadows all around us creeping—
Would I were dead!"

Were death but sleep,
Small harm to wish into the grave to creep,
And no more weep;
But were death life,
Far truer life than that men live on earth;
Were death but birth
To life where cares, and tears, and toll, and strife

No longer are,
But which the Just alone
With other Just may share—
Could I still dare,
Whose days so little justice yet have shown,
To seek an entrance through death's golden gate?

Nay! Rather for long season let me wait,
And with embroidery of love and prayer,
And holy deeds, and suffering, prepare
The wedding garment for the wedding feast.

That I be not the lowest or the least
In that great throng.
Nor chamed the Royal Bridegroom's guests to greet
Whose voices sweet
Catch up the angelic song
And Holy, Holy, Holy, without end repeat.

My Strangest Case

BY GUY BOOTHBY.

Author of "Dr. Nikola," "The Beautiful White Devil," "Pharos, The Egyptian," Etc.

[Copyrighted, 1901, by Ward, Lock & Co.]

In reply he handed me a letter written on good note paper, but without an address. It ran as follows:

"Mr. Gideon Hayle returns thanks for kind inquiries, and begs to inform Mr. Fairfax that he is leaving England to day for Algiers."

"If he thinks he is going to bluff me with that sort of tale, he's very much mistaken," I said. "I happen to be aware of the fact that he left for Southampton by the nine o'clock train this morning. If I might hazard a guess as to where he was going, I should say that his destination is the Cape. But let him go where he will, I'll have him yet. In the meantime, send Williams to Charing Cross at once, Roberts to Victoria, and Dickson to St. Paul's. Furnish each with a description of the man they are to look after, be particular about the scar upon his left cheek, and if they see him tell them that they are not to lose sight of him, happen what may. Let them telegraph should they discover anything definite, and then go in pursuit. In any case I shall return from Southampton to-night, and shall call here at once."

Half an hour later I arrived at Waterloo, took my ticket and boarded the train for Southampton. When I reached the port I was met at the station by my representative, who informed me that he had seen nothing of the man I had described, although he had carefully looked for him.

"We'll try the various shipping offices first," I said. "I feel positively certain that he came down here by the nine o'clock train."

We drove from shipping office to shipping office, and made the most careful inquiries, but in every case without success. Once we thought we had discovered our man, only to find, after wasting a precious hour, that the clerk's description was altogether a wrong one, and that he resembled Hayle in no sort of way. We boarded the South African mail-boat, but he was not among her passengers; we overhauled the American liner, with an equally barren result. We paid cursory visits to the principal hotels, but could hear no tidings of him in any one of them. As a matter of fact, if the man had journeyed to Southampton, as I had every reason to suppose he had done, he must have disappeared into thin air when he got there. The whole affair was most bewildering, and I scarcely knew what to think of it. That the boots at the hotel had not been hoodwinking me I felt assured in my own mind. His anger against the man was too real to allow any doubt upon that point. At last, having exhausted all our resources, and not seeing what I could do further, I returned to my subordinate's lodgings, where it had been arranged that telegrams should be addressed to me. On my arrival there a yellow envelope was handed to me. I tore it open eagerly and withdrew the contents. It proved to be from Dickson, and had been sent off from Dover. I took my code-book from my pocket and translated the message upon the back of the telegraph form. It ran as follows:

"Man with triangular scar upon left cheek, brown bag and traveling rug, boarded train at Herne Hill, went through to Dover, and has booked to Paris. Am following him according to instructions."

"Then he slipped me after all," I cried. "He must have gone on to Waterloo, crossed to Cannon street, then on to London bridge. The cunning scoundrel! He must have made up his mind that the biggest bluff he could play upon me was to tell the truth, and by Jove! he was not very far wrong. However, those laugh best who laugh last, and though he has had a very fair innings so far, we will see whether he can beat me in the end. I'll get back to town now, run down to Bishopstowe to-morrow morning to report progress, and then be off to Paris after him on Monday."

At 8:45 that night I reached London. At the same moment Mr. Gideon Hayle was sitting down to a charming little dinner at the Cafe des Princes, and was smiling to himself as he thought of the success that had attended the trick he had played upon me.

CHAPTER VII.

When I reached the charming little Surrey village of Bishopstowe, I could see that it bore out Kitwater's description of it. A prettier little place could scarcely have been discovered, with its tree-shaded high road, its cluster of thatched cottages, its blacksmith's shop, rustic inn with the signboard on a high post before the door, and, last but not least, the quaint little church standing some hundred yards back from the main road, and approached from the lych-gate by an avenue of limes.

"Here," I said to myself, "is a place where a man might live to be 100, undisturbed by the rush and bustle of the great world."

That was my feeling then, but since I have come to know it better, and have been permitted an opportunity of seeing for myself something of the inner life of the hamlet, I have discovered that it is only the life of a great city, on a small scale. There is the same keen competition in trade, with the same jealousies and bickerings. However, on this peaceful Sunday morning it struck me as being delightful. There was an old-world quiet about it that was vastly soothing. The rooks cawed lazily in the elms before the church as if they knew it were Sunday morning and a day of rest. A dog lay extended in the middle of the road, basking in the sunshine, a thing which he would not have dared to do on a weekday. Even the little stream that runs under the old stone bridge, which marks the center of the village, and then winds its tortuous course round the churchyard, through the Squire's park, and then down the valley on its way to the sea, seemed to flow somewhat more slowly than was its wont.

Peeling just in the humor for a little moralizing, I opened the lych-gate and entered the churchyard. The congregation were singing the last hymn, the Old Hundredth, if I remember rightly, and the sound of their united voices fitted perfectly into the whole scheme, giving it the one touch that was lacking. As I strolled along I glanced at the inscriptions on the various tombstones, and endeavored to derive from them some notion of the lives and characters of those whose memories they perpetuated.

"Sacred to the memory of Erasmus Gunning, 27 years schoolmaster of this parish. Born 24th of March, 1806, and rested from his labors on September the 19th, 1876." Seating myself on the low wall that surrounded the churchyard, I looked down upon the river, and while so doing, reflected upon Erasmus Gunning. What had he been like, this knight of the ferrule, who for 27 years acted as pedagogue to this tiny hamlet? What good had he done in his world? Had he realized his life's ambition? Into many of the congregation now worshipping yonder he must have driven the three P's, possibly with the assistance of the faithful ferrule aforesaid, yet how many of them gave a thought to his memory! In this case the assertion that he "rested from his labors" was a trifle ambiguous. Consigning poor Erasmus to oblivion, I continued my walk. Presently my eyes caught an inscription that made me halt again. It was dedicated to the "Loving Memory of William Kitwater, and Susan, his wife." I was still looking at it, when I heard a step on the gravel-path behind me, and turning round, I found myself standing face to face with Miss Kitwater. To use the conventional phrase, church had "come out," and the congregation was even now making its way down the broad avenue towards the high-road.

"How do you do, Mr. Fairfax?" said Miss Kitwater, giving me her hand as she spoke. "It is kind indeed of you to come down. I hope you have good news for us?"

"I am inclined to consider it good news myself," I said. "I hope you will think so too."

She did not question me further about it then, but, asking me to excuse her for a moment, stepped over the little plot of ground where her dear ones lay, and plucked some of the dead leaves from the flowers that grew upon it. To my thinking she was just what an honest English girl should be; straightforward and gentle, looking the whole world in the face with frank and honorable simplicity. When she had finished her labor of love, which only occupied her a few moments, she suggested that we should stroll on to her house.

"My uncle will be wondering what has become of me," she said, "and he will also be most anxious to see you."

"He does not accompany you to church, then?"

"No," she answered. "He is so conscious of his affliction that he cannot bear it to be remarked. He usually stays at home and walks up and down a path in the garden, brooding, I am afraid, over his treatment by Mr. Hayle. It goes to my heart to see him."

"And Mr. Codd?"

"He, poor little man, spends most of his time reading such works on archaeology as he can obtain. It is his one great study, and I am thankful he has such a hobby to distract his mind from his own trouble."

"Their coming to England must have made a great change in your life," I remarked.

"It has made a difference," she answered. "But one should not lead one's life exactly to please one's self. They were in sore distress, and I am thankful that they came to me, and that I had the power to help them."

This set me thinking. She spoke gravely, and I knew that she meant what she said. But underlying it there was a suggestion that, for some reason or another, she had not been altogether favorably impressed by her visitors. Whether I was right in my suppositions I could not tell then, but I knew that I should in all probability be permitted a better opportunity of judging later on. We crossed the little bridge, and passed along the high road for upwards of a mile, until we found ourselves standing at the entrance to one of the prettiest little country residences it has ever been my lot to find. A drive, some 30 yards or so in length, led up to the house and was shaded by overhanging trees. The house itself was of two stories and was covered by creepers. The garden was scrupulously neat, and I fancied that I could detect its mistress's hand in it. Shady walks led from it in various directions, and at the end of one of these I could discern a tall, restless figure, pacing up and down.

"There is my uncle," said the girl, referring to the figure I have just described. "That is his sole occupation. He likes it because it is the only part of the garden in which he can move about without a guide. How empty and hard his life must seem to him now, Mr. Fairfax?"

"It must, indeed," I replied. "To my thinking blindness is one of the worst ills that can happen to a man. It must be particularly hard to one who has led such a vigorous life as your uncle has done."

I could almost have declared that she shuddered at my words. Did she know more about her uncle and his past life than she liked to think about? I remembered one or two expressions he had let fall in his excitement when he had been talking to me, and how I had commented upon them as being strange words to come from the lips of a missionary. I had often wondered whether the story he had told me about their life in China, and Hayle's connection with it, had been a true one. The tenaciousness with which a Chinaman clings to the religion of his forefathers is proverbial, and I could not remember having ever heard that a mandarin, or an official of high rank, had been converted to the Christian faith. Even if he had, it struck me as being highly improbable that he would have been the possessor of such princely treasure, and, even supposing that to be true, that he would, at his death, leave it to such a man as Kitwater. No, I fancied if we could only get at the truth of the story, we should find that it was a good deal more picturesque, not to use a harsher term, than we imagined. For a moment I had almost been tempted to believe that the stones were Hayle's property, and that these two men were conducting their crusade with the intention of robbing him of them. Yet, on maturer reflection, this did not fit in. There was the fact that they had certainly been mutilated as they described, and also their hatred of Hayle to be weighed in one balance, while Hayle's manifest fear of them could be set in the other.

"If I am not mistaken that is your step, Mr. Fairfax," said the blind man, stopping suddenly in his walk, and turning his sightless face in my direction. "It's wonderful how the loss of one's sight sharpens one's ears. I suppose you met Margaret on the road?"

"I met Miss Kitwater in the churchyard," I replied.

"A very good meeting place," he chuckled, sarcastically. "It's where most of us meet each other sooner or later. Upon my word, I think the dead are luckier than the living. In any case they are more fortunate than poor devils like Codd and myself. But I am keeping you standing, won't you sit down somewhere and tell me your news? I have been almost counting the minutes for your arrival. I know you would not be here to-day unless you had something important to communicate to me. You have found Hayle?"

He asked the question with feverish eagerness, as if he hoped within a few hours to be clutching at the other's throat. I could see that his niece noticed it too, and that she recoiled a little from him in consequence. I thereupon set to work and told them of all that had happened since I had last seen them, described my lucky meeting with Hayle at Charing Cross, my chase after him across London, the trick he had played me at Foxwell's hotel, and my consequent fruitless journey to Southampton.

"And he managed to escape you after all," said Kitwater. "That man would outwit the master of all liars himself. He is out of England by this time, and we shall lose him."

"He has not escaped me," I replied, quietly. "I know where he is, and I have got a man on his track."

"Then where is he?" asked Kitwater. "If you know where he is, you ought to be with him yourself instead of down here. You are paid to conduct the case. How do you know that your man may not bungle it, and that we may not lose him again?"

His tone was so rude and his manner so aggressive, that his niece was about to protest. I made a sign to her, however, not to do so.

"I don't think you need be afraid, Mr. Kitwater," I said more soothingly than I felt. "My man is a very clever and reliable fellow, and you may be sure that, having once set eyes on Mr. Hayle, he will not lose sight of him again. I shall leave for Paris to-morrow morning, and shall immediately let you know the result of my search. Will that suit you?"

"It will suit me when I get hold of Hayle," he replied. "Until then I shall know no peace. Surely you must understand that?"

Then, imagining, perhaps, that he had gone too far, he began to fawn upon me, and what was worse praised my methods of elucidating a mystery. I cannot say which I disliked the more. Indeed, had it not been that I had promised Miss Kitwater to take up the case, and that I did not want to disappoint her, I believe I should have abandoned it there and then, out of sheer disgust. A little later our hostess proposed that we should adjourn to the house, as it was nearly lunch-time. We did so, and I was shown to a pretty bedroom to wash my hands. It was a charming apartment, redolent of the country, smelling of lavender, and, after London, as fresh as a glimpse of a new life. I looked about me, took in the cleanliness of everything, and contrasted it with my own dingy apartments at Rickford's hotel, where the view from the window was not of meadows and breezy uplands, but of red roofs, chimney-pots, and constantly revolving crows. I could picture the view from this window in the early morning, with the dew upon the grass, and the blackbirds whistling in the shrubbery. I am not a vain man, I think, but at this juncture I stood before the looking-glass and surveyed myself. For the first time in my life I could have wished that I had been better-looking. At last I turned angrily away.

THE MAN WHO WAS ROBBED.

A Fable with a Moral That Will Be Very Generally Coincided With.

A stranger in a strange land once fell in with thieves, who found him on a lonely road, beat him, robbed him, and then tied him to a tree.

After a long wait another traveler came by, and the stranger, in a weak voice, pleaded for help, says Judge.

He told the story of his wrongs, and the traveler said: "How sad!"

"I cried out, but my voice is not strong, and my cries were of no avail," said the victim.

"How unfortunate!" said the traveler.

"And the robbers tied me so fast I am utterly helpless."

"How interesting!"

"Interesting? Do you think it interesting to have been beaten and robbed? Why, the thieves took all my money except a small sum in my inside pocket."

"How careless!" commented the traveler.

Then, having satisfied himself that the stranger's story was true, that he was really tied securely, that his voice was weak, and that there was a small sum in an inside pocket, he secured the small sum and went on his way.

She Gained Papa's Consent.

A pretty girl announced to papa her engagement to dear Cholly. The old man became very grave at once. Cholly had a good salary, was to all appearances a nice, steady young man, "but then," said papa, "let the engagement be a long one, my dear. In that case you will have time to find out each other's faults and failings, and discover serious defects of character which would make you wretched for life if you marry."

"But, papa," interposed the sweet girl, "I object to long engagements if they are so apt to be broken, don't you know?"

"But can't you think?"

"Gee whizz! How do you expect me to think now? I'm writing something for the magazines."—Philadelphia Press.
